Law & Business Seminar Series

Corporations and Climate Change

This Zoom Roundtable discussion will address the issues faced by Australian company directors with regard to climate change.

ABOUT THE SEMINAR

Climate change has become a major issue in contemporary corporate governance.

This Roundtable discussion will consider:

- Whether company directors have a duty to consider climate change in making decisions and the possible liability risks for directors
- The practical mechanisms by which directors can address climate change problems
- The efficacy of corporate governance techniques, such as disclosure and stewardship codes, in promoting environmental sustainability.
