What I love about the Bachelor of Arts at Monash is that it is so career-focused.

I did a two-month internship at InClover Magazine, where I got to create news reports for social media and the website, attend virtual press conferences, and write articles for the printed magazine issue.

I also completed an internship with the Australian Centre for Education and Training for four months. I was able to gain insight into corporate social responsibility initiatives and digital operations, as well as develop my project management skills."

LEARNING ABROAD

AMAZING EXPERIENCES OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Monash Arts has the most extensive overseas study opportunities of any university in Australia. Whether you go for two weeks or two semesters, there's a program to suit your interests, curiosities and study needs.

We have partnerships with over 150 universities worldwide, a study centre in Prato, Italy, and a campus in Malaysia. As a first year Monash Arts student, you'll have access to Monash's ground breaking Global Immersion Guarantee.

STUDYING OVERSEAS GIVES YOU AN EDGE

Research shows that students with international study experience:

- have better grades throughout their degree
- are more employable once they graduate
- earn more throughout their career.

You'll expand your worldview through experiencing different cultures and ways of doing things. You'll build your self-confidence, and be more adaptable and independent. You'll also develop skills in effective communication, collaboration and time management.

WHERE CAN I GO?

Arts study tours

Programs vary from two to six weeks. They're taught intensively so you can complete one or more units/subjects in that time. They run between semesters, which means you can continue to travel afterwards and potentially finish your degree sooner.

Some examples of what you could do include:

- creating journalism stories while joining the Engineers Without Borders study tour of Cambodia
- undertaking archaeological fieldwork and excavation in Italy
- jamming with jazz masters in New York
- engaging with cultural identities while considering the key challenges they face in Cuba today
- mastering Mandarin in China
- comparing crime and social control in the USA, Asia or Europe
- unravelling the effects of genocide in Europe.

Arts Semester in Prato

Make the Monash Prato Centre your European study base. Close to Florence in the picturesque landscape of Tuscany, the Monash Prato Centre is located in the beautiful 18th-century Palazzo Vaj right in the centre of Prato.

The program is flexible, immersive and enriching. Divided into three-by-four-week intensive blocks, you can study for the full 12 weeks or take the option of including some travel time and study for four or eight weeks. Embrace the opportunity to learn from some of the world's most renowned international scholars as you study subjects such as:

- intensive Italian language
- cultural diversity in contemporary Europe
- the Renaissance in Florence.

Intensive language programs

Studying overseas as part of your language major is a great way to immerse yourself in your chosen language and culture. Monash Arts offers a variety of faculty-led and endorsed language programs available to language students for credit.

Intercampus exchange to Monash Malaysia

Located in Bandar Sunway (18 kilometres from Kuala Lumpur), Monash Malaysia was Monash's first international campus. Intercampus exchange to Monash Malaysia was available to all Monash Australia students, provided they have room within their course. Generous funding is available for this program.

Exchange to a partner institution

An exchange program involves studying with one of our partner universities around the world. You can go on exchange for one or two semesters. Financial assistance is available and there are no extra tuition fees. You can choose from more than 150 universities in 30 countries.

Study Abroad

If your preferred overseas destination is not a Monash partner university, you can still choose to go there on Study Abroad. You'll pay the host university's tuition fees for the time you're there, and you're still able to access financial assistance to support your travel.

GLOBAL IMMERSION GUARANTEE

The Monash Global Immersion Guarantee (GIG) is an award-winning initiative that will enable you to explore first-hand the relationships between society, technology and the environment. It's a two-week, funded study trip available to all first-year Monash Arts, single or double degree students to one of the following destinations – India, Indonesia, Italy, Malaysia or the Pacific Islands.

The Global Immersion Guarantee is about innovating and putting your degree into practice by responding to some of the world's biggest challenges. You will engage with people and organisations already working on these issues, and you'll have the opportunity to gain an understanding of the complexities and challenges involved in implementing sustainable and innovative solutions – all skills your future employers will look for.

monash.edu/global-immersion-guarantee

MALAYSIA

Based at the Monash Malaysia campus near Kuala Lumpur, you'll explore a number of the country's contemporary sustainability challenges, and examine what sustainability means in a context of rapid social, economic and cultural change.

THE PACIFIC ISLANDS

Travelling to one of the most environmentally sensitive regions on earth, you'll learn from and engage with leading local experts and conservationists about efforts to protect the fragile Island ecosystems and prevent the impact of climate change.

INDIA

In the Mumbai program, you'll be working to understand the environmental challenges faced by one of India's biggest and most populated cities.

In the Delhi program, you'll engage with issues such as rural and urban development and the environment, climate change, and sustainable agriculture.

ITALY

Based at the Monash Prato Centre, you'll be exploring the evolving relationship between communities, industries and the natural environment, and witness first-hand the impact that this has.

INDONESIA

In Indonesia, you'll travel to two of the country's 18,000 islands to begin to understand how different communities can balance economic development and environmental sustainability.

INTERNSHIPS

An internship is often the first step of your career. You'll have the opportunity to undertake an internship for course credit in the final year of your course through our Work Integrated Learning (WIL) program. We'll help match you to a role that's aligned with your skills and interests, giving you the chance to build networks and make contacts for your career development. Visit monash.edu/arts/WIL-Internships

Bachelor of ARTS

Workplaces of the future need innovative leaders who can see the bigger picture, with the human-focused and transferable skills you'll gain in a humanities and social sciences degree.

The Bachelor of Arts is designed to give you maximum flexibility and choice. With over thirty areas of study to choose from, our comprehensive arts degree is flexible, allowing you to design a unique course structure aligned with your worldview and career objectives. The course is built around deeply enriching experiences, and offers you four Professional Futures units through which to develop your unique graduate profile. You can choose from local and international internships, professional engagements and entrepreneurial opportunities, and the choice of more than 50 global immersion programs, preparing you to live and work in complex and culturally diverse environments, while building a network of like-minded peers.

The major

Eight units make up your major. These units are from the same area of study³ – for example, sociology, French studies or history. There are many units to choose from but there are also some compulsory units. These are called gateway, cornerstone and capstone units, which have been designed to help you consolidate your learning so you can get the most out of your major.

Gateway: a first-year foundation unit introducing you to the major.

Cornerstone: a second-year unit that focuses on making sure you have a solid grasp of your major.

Capstone: a third-year unit where you demonstrate advanced knowledge of your major. This could be a supervised research project or an internship with an industry partner.

Arts electives/Minor

A minor is four units from the same area of study. In a Bachelor of Arts, you can choose to complete a minor or four individual units from your chosen areas.

Professional Futures

Professional Futures is a distinct, career-oriented program. Customise your own professional journey according to your career interest across four areas, and build the skills and abilities employers value and seek.

Global immersion: Broaden your knowledge and life experience by participating in an overseas study program, such as the Global Immersion Guarantee (GIG), or a semester abroad.

Intercultural expertise: Learn to recognise your own cultural values and biases, and build skills to thrive in globalised workplaces and communities.

Professional experience: Through industry internships and placements, create networks and skills for your career development.

Innovation capability: Cultivate an innovation mindset as you develop your creative and enterprising abilities.

Free electives

There are eight free elective units which can be taken from Arts, Business, Technology or Science. For example, you could add a second major which gives you two areas of expertise.

Taking advantage of the flexible structure

While there are aspects of the course structure that are fixed (for example, you must complete a major, Arts electives, and Professional Futures units), there's still plenty of flexibility. This means you can design your course to suit your needs and interests as they evolve.

Some examples of what we mean by 'flexible' are:

- you can decide your major in second-year
- you can complete four Arts electives or a minor
- you can use the eight free electives to make up a second major, two minors, a minor plus electives, or just electives. These can be from Arts, Business, Technology or Science.

Global Immersion Guarantee

As a Bachelor of Arts student, you'll have access to the Monash Global Immersion Guarantee – an opportunity to spend two weeks studying in India, Indonesia, Italy, Malaysia or the Pacific Islands, with airfares and accommodation covered as part of your degree.

BACHELOR OF ARTS DOUBLE DEGREES

Double the degree. Double the experience.
Double the future careers.

A double degree doesn't mean double the work; in fact, it takes two years less to complete than if you studied the courses separately.

A double degree empowers you to tailor your studies to your dream profession – for example, working as an international development lawyer (Arts/Laws), an environmental journalist (Arts/Science), a business manager (Arts/Business) or a music critic (Arts/Music).

You'll broaden your knowledge across two different fields, diversify your skill base, double your network of contacts, and expand your career opportunities.

Diploma of LANGUAGES + Diploma of LIBERAL ARTS

An Arts diploma allows you to take additional studies in Arts while completing a Monash single or double bachelor's degree.

What is a diploma?

A diploma is an additional course of study taken alongside your bachelor's degree. It's the equivalent of eight units, which makes up a major. You'll cover first, second and third year units. Diplomas are studied alongside your degree/s and add an extra year of study.

Who's eligible?

Students from any Monash faculty who are studying a bachelor's single or double degree.

Why study a diploma?

By studying a Diploma of Languages or a Diploma of Liberal Arts, you will:

- Diversify and deepen your skills and knowledge in another area of study
- Expand your career options
- Continue with an area of study you have a keen interest in, or
- Try something completely different, like a new language.

Diploma of Languages

This diploma allows you to study Chinese Mandarin, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean or European languages (French, German, Italian, Spanish). There are different entry levels so you can commence as a beginner in the language or with a language background. If your language ability is higher than beginner level, you will sit a language entry level test to determine the best place for you to continue with your language.

Diploma of Liberal Arts

Expand your studies by choosing any Arts area of study available as a major, except for languages which you can take in a Diploma of Languages.

Applying for entry

You can apply for entry to either of these diplomas only after you've accepted your offer into your main Monash Bachelor degree.

Broaden your career options

Students choose to study Monash Arts diplomas to enhance their future career opportunities. For example, Law students strengthen their specialisation through pursuing criminology, international business students gain a competitive edge by studying a language, and biomedical students increase their career choices through journalism.

I undertook an Arts/Law double degree because I wanted to combine my passion for law with my social conscience and desire to help my community.

In my Arts degree, I pursued Chinese studies and International development. My Chinese studies led me to study abroad in Nanjing in China, where I was exposed to poverty-stricken environments. Meanwhile, my International development subjects showed me some of the solutions that were possible.

When I returned from studying abroad in China, I wanted to take action to combat poverty. I came up with the idea for Crepes for Change, which was the first business in a group now known as Society Melbourne.

My Arts degree has led to a fulfilling career in ethical entrepreneurship, and informed my practice as a pro bono lawyer."

Bachelor + Master's PROGRAM

With Monash Arts you can graduate with a bachelor's and a master's degree in just four* years. After completing two years of your bachelor's course, and providing you're a high-achieving student, you can take master's-level units as your electives in third-year.

You then complete the rest of your master's course in fourth-year. You can match your Monash Arts bachelor's degree with a master's degree in:

- Applied Linguistics
- Bioethics
- Communications and Media Studies
- Cultural and Creative Industries
- International Development Practice
- International Relations
- International Relations and Journalism
- International Sustainable Tourism Management
- Interpreting and Translation Studies
- Journalism
- Public Policy
- Strategic Communications Management.

The benefits

At Monash Arts we're committed to providing you with as many opportunities and as much flexibility as possible to allow you to maximise your study options. The Bachelor + Master's program allows you to:

- Fast track your studies and graduate with an undergraduate and postgraduate degree in just four years – instead of five
- Take advantage of the most extensive Bachelor + Master's offering in Australia
- Make yourself more employable with two degrees and specialist knowledge
- Save time by completing your Bachelor + Master's degrees in only four* years.
- Save on fees by continuing to pay Bachelor degree fees when you start your Master's in 3rd year leaving with with only one year of Master's fees.

HOW IT WORKS

Step 1	Enter a Monash Arts single bachelor's degree (Arts, Criminology, Global Studies, Media Communication, Music or Politics, Philosophy and Economics)
Step 2	Follow any major or specialisation sequence and successfully complete two years of study (full-time equivalent)
Step 3	During your final semester of your second year of the bachelor's degree, as a high achieving student (65% or higher overall average), you are invited to apply to transition into your chosen Arts master's degree
Step 4	Once accepted into the program you will commence your master's units during the third year of your study
Step 5	You will complete one more year of master's units

During my studies, I took advantage of the internship opportunities available so I could apply the skills and practical knowledge I gained from the Bachelor + Master's program in professional work environments.

Since graduating, I have secured a job as a Policy Officer at the Australian Primary Health Care Nurses Association, where I completed one of my internships. The networking opportunities and hands-on experience I gained throughout my degree helped me strategically position myself in the workforce, leading to an exciting career straight out of uni."

GLOBAL IMMERSION GUARANTEE

As a Bachelor of Criminology student, you'll have access to the Monash Global Immersion Guarantee – an opportunity to spend two weeks studying in India, Indonesia, Italy, Malaysia or the Pacific Islands, with airfares and accommodation covered as part of your degree. For more information, visit monash.edu/global-immersion-guarantee

INTERNATIONAL STUDY OPPORTUNITIES

You'll have opportunities to travel internationally to meet criminal justice experts through a selection of exclusive field trips. Study tours include:

- Crime and criminal justice in Asia
- Comparative criminology in the US
- Human rights and criminal justice in Europe.

Bachelor of CRIMINOLOGY

Improve responses to crime and criminality.

Criminology is the study of crime and social control. Crime – how we define it, how we understand its causes and the ways we respond to it – provides a window into society's challenges, values and aspirations.

This course offers students a world-leading program delivered by a team of outstanding teachers and researchers.

You'll consider the local, national and global aspects of crime and justice, and become familiar with a range of lenses for understanding and assessing the impact of society's changing responses to crime and justice. You'll gain an understanding of victimisation and perpetration, inequality and its impacts, and approaches to understanding crime. Throughout the course you'll develop your capabilities via the key themes of expert knowledge, global reach and focus, and collaboration and innovation.

You'll learn about crime committed by individuals, groups, organisations and states, and the mechanisms of the criminal justice system, including police, courts and corrections. Options are available to develop knowledge of specific criminal concerns, such as sexual violence, gendered violence, punishment, criminal justice processes, marginalisation, drugs, cybercrime, risk and surveillance, victimisation and perpetration, youth crime, and crime prevention and transnational justice practices.

Expert knowledge

With its own advisory board, the Bachelor of Criminology brings into play the advice and dynamic perspectives of industry experts, meaning you will benefit from current insights into industry developments.

Global reach and focus

Throughout the course you'll be challenged to apply abstract knowledge to real-world problems of crime and justice, and develop solutions. You'll also have the opportunity to travel internationally and meet criminal justice experts from across the world through a selection of exclusive field trips.

The field trips offer a truly immersive learning experience to complement the academic knowledge you'll gain in class, allowing you to engage in context and gain a genuine understanding of the human realities behind the study of criminology.

Collaboration and innovation

Through multiple opportunities for engagement with industry, you'll gain the experience needed to be workplace ready. In the professional project unit, you'll work closely with our industry partners, opening up new pathways and opportunities for your career, and capping off your criminology study by bringing together your knowledge and skills in your final year. The professional project features real-life scenarios, and your work will be assessed by both academics and industry experts.

Further opportunities and internships are available to you through our Work Integrated Learning internships, both in Australia and around the world, so you can get hands-on experience while you gain study credit.

Double degrees

The Bachelor of Criminology can be paired with the:

- Bachelor of Arts
- Bachelor of Information Technology
- Bachelor of Laws (Honours).

Bachelor of CRIMINOLOGY AND POLICING

Crime is a complex phenomena, which requires it to be viewed from various perspectives. In a joint-venture with Victoria Police, the Bachelor of Criminology and Policing is the only course of its kind in Australia.

In this three-year program, you'll complete the core requirements of the Monash Bachelor of Criminology, and have the opportunity to apply to undertake a Diploma of Policing, to be completed at the Victoria Police Academy in your third year.

The breadth and depth of our Bachelor of Criminology is a great foundation for anyone considering a career in policing or criminal justice. You will gain an understanding of crime, the broader context in which crime occurs, the drivers of criminal behaviour, and the limits of formal and informal responses to crime.

You'll consider the local, national and global aspects of crime and justice, and become familiar with a range of lenses for understanding and assessing the impact of society's changing responses to crime and justice. You'll gain an understanding of victimisation and perpetration, inequality and its impacts, and approaches to understanding crime. Throughout the course you'll develop your capabilities via the key themes of expert knowledge, global reach and focus, and collaboration and innovation.

Expert knowledge

You'll learn about crime committed by individuals, groups, organisations and states, and the mechanisms of the criminal justice system, including police, courts and corrections.

Options are available to develop knowledge of specific criminal concerns, such as sexual violence, gendered violence, punishment, criminal justice processes, marginalisation, drugs, cybercrime, risk and surveillance, victimisation and perpetration, youth crime, and crime prevention and transnational justice practices.

Diploma of Policing

The Bachelor of Criminology and Policing is a pathway to your policing career. This course will provide you with the chance to apply to join Victoria Police and if successful, continue your studies at the Victoria Police Academy, where you will gain practical experience and go on to work in the police force.

From Day 1 of your degree, Victoria Police will organise a police mentor for you, giving you every opportunity to be successful with your Diploma of Policing application in second year. While studying at the Victoria Police Academy in your third year you will also receive mentorship from Monash Criminology staff to support you in completing you Monash units.

Successful students will complete two separate qualifications, the Monash Bachelor of Criminology and the Victoria Police Diploma of Policing, increasing your employability.

GLOBAL IMMERSION GUARANTEE

As a student in the Bachelor of Global Studies you'll have access to the Monash Global Immersion Guarantee...

Bachelor of GLOBAL STUDIES

If you aspire to become a leader in creating social change, then this is the course for you. You'll learn how to critically analyse global challenges facing cultures and communities around the world...

The Bachelor of Global Studies has many exciting features, including core units on leadership development, project-based learning, internship placements with industries and organisations who are leading advocates for social change around the world...

Overseas study

Integral to this course is overseas study that can be completed across a full semester or taken intensively. You could take units offered at a Monash international location, join one of our many study tours...

Engaging with industry

With its own advisory board, the Bachelor of Global Studies is in a unique position to draw on the advice and perspectives of industry experts. The board consists of professionals from diverse backgrounds with direct links to business, government and the social sector...

Global Scholars Program

The Global Scholars Program challenges you to engage with your international experience, to step outside and reflect on the people and culture of your chosen destination and to return to Monash as part of a growing networking of past and present Global Scholars...

Double degrees

The Bachelor of Global Studies can be taken as a double degree with the:

- Bachelor of Commerce
Bachelor of Laws (Honours)
Bachelor of Science
Bachelor of Information Technology.

WIL Internships

There are many opportunities within the course to take a work integrated learning internship, where you can apply your knowledge to a professional work environment and gain valuable experience and insights into the 'real-world' environment...

Course structure

Four core units on 'Leadership, culture and globalisation':

These units are exclusive to the Bachelor of Global Studies and are taken over three years. You'll learn about forms of leadership, drivers of social change and how to apply your learning in practical and professional real-life contexts.

Classes are mainly workshops where you'll engage in problem-based learning and develop skills in creativity, teamwork, cross-cultural collaboration, critical thinking, self-learning and analytical writing.

Twelve units from one of the following specialisations with a minimum of three units taken overseas:

- Cultural competence
Human rights
International relations
International studies.

Eight free elective units:

With these free electives you can study units from Arts or from another area such as Technology, Science or Business. You could also use these electives to engage in work integrated learning or study overseas.

Specialisations

You will choose one of the following areas to specialise in and if you like, you can choose another one of these areas to study in your free electives.

Cultural competence

Extend your studies of leadership, culture and globalisation by focusing on communication across cultural borders. By studying one of eight internationally important languages - Chinese Mandarin, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean, French, German, Italian or Spanish - you'll deepen your cross-cultural skills and knowledge...

Human rights

In the era of globalisation, one of the most important concepts in international affairs is human rights. What are human rights? Are human rights culturally relative? How can human rights be justified? You'll learn how human rights help to address issues such as global poverty, unequal access to medicine, warfare, terrorism, children's rights, humanitarian intervention, torture, surveillance and more.

International relations

What are the dynamics of global politics and economics? Gain an understanding of the relationships between political institutions, international organisations, and governmental and non-governmental actors. Grasp evidence-based explanations to study war and conflict, development, financial and other crises at a global level. You'll undertake in-depth study of topics of contemporary significance such as terrorism and political violence, global governance, international security and foreign policy.

International studies

In order to be competitive in the international marketplace of products, ideas and knowledge, we need to understand how people experience different cultures. International studies develops this understanding by exploring the issues and events that have shaped and continue to shape our world. You'll examine such diverse topics as the role of cities as drivers of change, migrant and refugee experiences, power and poverty, and tradition and popular culture. In doing so, you'll develop a solid understanding of European and Asian cultural studies, and of networks of relations between Europe, Asia and Australia.

Having grown up in different countries, I was inherently curious about how the world works, and that's what made me choose Monash - it has an international outlook.

My international experience fuelled my interest in having a global career. Monash gave me the practical skills to turn that dream into a reality."

Bachelor of MEDIA COMMUNICATION

A degree for today's dynamic media world, the Bachelor of Media Communication addresses the growing demand for graduates with new and diverse skills in communication, and a critical understanding of the role of media in all aspects of our lives.

You'll be part of a new generation of thinkers and future-driven media and communication professionals who'll challenge convention and devise solutions that'll take us into the next century.

Graduate with a portfolio to show employers

From day one, you'll develop practical experience and work-ready skills to build a portfolio of real work throughout your course. This could be projects such as a documentary, short film or digital marketing campaign, depending on your interest area. The result is tangible pieces of work you can take out and show to potential employers.

What you'll study

The course comprises core units, a specialisation and electives. You can tailor it to suit your interests by choosing your specialisation and electives. In your final year you can do either an internship or a professional project.

Double degrees

The Bachelor of Media Communication can be paired with the:

- Bachelor of Art History and Curating
- Bachelor of Business
- Bachelor of Design
- Bachelor of Fine Art
- Bachelor of Marketing.

WIL Internships

If you're interested in gaining valuable work experience, you can apply for a work integrated learning internship through our extensive network of industry partners within Australia and around the world. The internship runs in the final year of your course. It'll give you the opportunity to build networks and make contacts for your career development.

Free electives

There are eight free electives in the course. That means you'll have the flexibility to take units from another discipline within Arts such as politics or a language or from another faculty such as Business, Technology or Science. These electives will complement your specialisation and add diversity to your skill set, making you stand out from your peers.

Core units

Media challenges

This unit addresses the great media challenges of our time. Learn how to critically analyse and think strategically about how to tackle today's problems, as well as those that lie ahead.

Communicating in the digital era

Become proficient in areas such as video production, broadcasting, news reporting, advertising and social media. Learn to combine critical skills in digital literacy with practical skills in media production to develop your overall digital knowledge.

Media practice labs

With our industry standard, purpose built Media Lab, you'll have the opportunity to experience what it's like to work in a professional media environment right on campus. Experiment with different kinds of technology – from working in live and post-production TV studios, or the latest radio broadcast facilities.

Professional placement

In your final year you'll have the opportunity to bring together your in-depth knowledge and skills with either an internship or professional project.

Specialisations

There are four specialisations to choose from. You will start first year with two specialisations and decide in second year which one to pursue as your primary specialisation.

Journalism

Make the news and make stories that matter. Spanning digital, audio, video and print media, this specialisation makes use of the Monash Media Lab to give you the practical and creative skills required to excel in a rewarding journalism career.

Media

You'll become a true media expert in today's fast-evolving world, building skills and knowledge in media research, management, communication and policy. You'll develop skills in media analysis that have applications across a wide range of professional contexts – from social media strategy in organisations to media management and communication, and media policy.

Public relations

You'll learn how to research, develop, apply then evaluate communication strategies. You'll develop global perspectives, understand the importance of the management of stakeholder relationships and reputation, acquire skills in public opinion analysis, learn to identify and manage organisational issues, and develop a crisis management plan.

This specialisation also provides you with the skills required to research, plan and implement a strategic public relations campaign.

You'll have the opportunity to work with real clients where you'll gain insights into ethical communication practice as well as the skills needed for a professional career in public relations.

Screen

Screen industries, technologies and cultures are changing faster than ever. This specialisation gives you the knowledge to understand these transformations, navigating how film, television and newer screen formats have led to and function within contemporary media ecologies.

You'll study an extensive range of units. Looking at global and local film cultures, you'll examine the power and influence screen has to share stories, and its ability to influence and change society.

The screen specialisation also develops your practical video production skills relevant to a broad range of media platforms and screen cultures.

The highlight of this course has been doing all the practical work. The biggest thing is to utilise the facilities and the equipment here, because there's just so much and everyone is really welcoming and open for you to use it.”

Bachelor of MUSIC

The Sir Zelman Cowen School of Music and Performance has one of the most comprehensive music programs in the country. We excel in classical, jazz and popular music performance, and have vibrant programs in composition, improvisation and creative music technology.

This course is focussed on your music journey and on your career development. You'll have weekly one-to-one lessons, collaborate with students in other specialisations, learn from accomplished music staff and engage with international artists.

The course comprises 24 units. These units work through three themes and electives.

Themes

Music specialist study

Choose from one of the following specialisations:

- Music performance (classical or jazz and improvisation)
- Popular music
- Composition and music technology.

Music theory and ear training

These units integrate the development of aural skills with the theoretical understanding of music through listening, analysis, performance, notation and composition.

Music context study

Learn about music and music-making in a variety of cultural, historical, social and professional settings.

Electives

There are eight free electives that you can take from Music, Arts, Business, Technology or Science. For example, you could complement your studies with a language or marketing units from the Business school.

Double degrees

The Bachelor of Music can be paired with the:

- Bachelor of Arts
- Bachelor of Commerce
- Bachelor of Education (Honours), (includes Victorian Institute of Teaching registration)
- Bachelor of Laws (Honours)
- Bachelor of Science.

Other ways to study music in your course

You can include non-practical music units in your Bachelor of Arts course as a major, a minor or use your free electives. If you're studying another Monash course, you can use your electives to take non-practical music units.

Performance opportunities

Monash is renowned for its performance opportunities and we have a diverse range of small and large ensembles, including piano ensembles, choral groups (gospel, contemporary and classical), electronic laptop, new music, string sinfonia, wind symphony, funk, pop, Latin jazz, Gamelan, small jazz ensembles (including Australian jazz and Brazilian) as well as the Monash Art Ensemble and the Monash Academy Orchestra.

Monash University, the Faculty of Arts and the Sir Zelman Cowen School of Music and Performance offer an extensive scholarship and grants program to support both local and international students. For more information, visit monash.edu/arts/music-performance/about/scholarships-and-prizes

Music performance - Classical performance or Jazz and Improvisation

Available to those with strong musical aptitude in classical or jazz performance, this specialisation offers you the rigour and richness required to put you on the path to professional music performance success. You'll acquire an assured instrumental or vocal technique and perform in a variety of ensembles, in addition to solo work. You will have the opportunity to take part in one of our study tours to New York or to the Monash Prato Centre in Italy.

Popular music

Designed for popular music performers and creators of the future. In addition to developing practical performance skills and stagecraft, you'll learn how to engage with a broad range of tools, performance styles and contexts representative of the popular music industry. You'll start by developing techniques and practice strategies on your principal instrument or voice across a range of musical styles and repertoires. These skills will be applied in both solo and ensemble performance contexts in song-writing, live and recording environments. You'll have the opportunity to conceptualise and create a live performance and recording project under the guidance of expert teachers within your chosen musical style and/or context.

Composition and music technology

In this specialisation you'll develop skills in composition and music technology for acoustic and electronic instruments, song-writing and music for other media such as film and video games. You'll have the opportunity to collaborate with performance students, write for visiting international artists and make your own recording projects. Through our partnership with the Melbourne Electronic Sound Studio (MESS), you'll have access to vintage electronic equipment. Our ongoing program of local, national and international visiting artists and workshops means you'll create established contacts with industry and be prepared for global career opportunities.

Bachelor of POLITICS, PHILOSOPHY AND ECONOMICS

Developed by Monash's world-renowned politics, philosophy and economics professors, this course is designed for deep thinkers who want to have a real impact on shaping our society.

Core study requirements of the Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics will develop your ability to think critically about analysis, strategy and leadership and you will learn how to transform big ideas into tangible results. You'll engage with researchers and global leaders to hone the industry relevant abilities needed to thrive in a world defined by constant technological, environmental, political and population change.

An Industry Advisory Board guides the direction and development of the course, ensuring that all units are informed by expert insider knowledge.

There are 20 x $3000 merit scholarships available for commencing Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy & Economics students. For more information, visit monash.edu/scholarships

Core units

Big ideas in politics, philosophy and economics

Engage with the big ideas that have shaped the world and the emerging ideas that seek to alter it. This unit introduces major ideas in Politics, Philosophy and Economics in an innovative inter-disciplinary learning environment. You'll comprehend and analyse the inter-relationships between politics and the good life, freedom and the economy, and how we know what we know in order to behave ethically in a globalised society.

Policy analysis in politics, philosophy and economics

Tackle real-world contemporary policy challenges by examining statistical and data-driven evidence and practical policy responses. Adopting the role of policy-maker, you'll learn how to address concerns like economic efficiency, justice and fairness, and political feasibility.

Strategic reasoning in politics, philosophy and economics

Refine your structured and strategic ways of thinking about – and beyond – contemporary issues. Taking uncertainty and disruption as enduring elements of our world, you'll identify risks and opportunities and advance reasoned and evidence-based arguments to achieve concrete outcomes.

Politics, philosophy and economics in the world

Apply your interdisciplinary knowledge to real-world scenarios in real-world locations. After completing this unit, you'll have proven your ability to transition the workplace by demonstrating your capacity to identify emerging issues and articulate ways beyond current impasses.

Course structure

You will be required to complete six gateway (introductory) units from all three specialisations in your first year of study. One specialisation must be nominated at the end of first year. The gateway units from this section will be credited to the specialisation, resulting in twelve specialisation units. You will complete four units in Analysis, Strategy & Leadership and you will have eight free electives which can be taken from Arts, Business, Technology or Science.

WIL Internships

Work integrated learning internships form a valuable element of this course, empowering you to gain real world experience and shape your professional networks.

Overseas study

During your second year, you will have the opportunity to embark on an exclusive study tour. This study tour will trace the contours of the shifting economic and political relations of the twenty first century in the Asia-Pacific region and Europe.

Specialisations

Politics and governance

The study of politics addresses important questions about the nature of power, authority and governance: who gets what, when and how. Politics also encompasses the study of notions of freedom and agency in situations of social choice.

Philosophy

Philosophy is the study of fundamental ideas about the world we live in. It questions the nature of our world, asks what constitutes a good life in such a world, and asks what could be done to make it better. In this specialisation you'll be introduced to areas central to philosophy, including political philosophy, ethics and logic.

Economic analysis

Economic analysis provides an advanced understanding of the theories explaining and analysing the production, distribution, and consumption of goods and services, with a focus on how individuals, households, firms and governments interact and how economies work.

ANTHROPOLOGY

Available as a major, minor or electives

 Clayton

About anthropology

Anthropology compares different ways of life. Anthropologists provide 'insider' perspective on human behaviour by observing the lives of others, living with them, sharing their experiences and discussing their perspectives.

Why study anthropology?

Anthropologists specialise in analysing, documenting and creating social changes, and can assist in areas such as climate change, mining, social policy, Indigenous issues and development aid.

Anthropology and travel

Anthropologists travel extensively as part of their work. Monash anthropologists have travelled to outback Australia, Indonesia, Iran, Timor-Leste and many other locations.

GENDER STUDIES

Available as a major, minor or electives

Clayton

About gender studies

Gender studies is an exciting interdisciplinary field of inquiry that's informed by the belief that all social processes and institutions are 'gendered'.

Studies in this area bring innovative theory and research techniques to understanding the ways in which our bodies are sexed, gendered and sexually oriented, how these relate to contemporary and global debates on gender inequality, sexual and reproductive health and rights, and the plurality of sexualities.

Why choose gender studies?

You'll be introduced to a variety of critical models of analysis – feminist and queer – that'll assist you in developing a range of problem-solving skills.

Your transferable professional skills in gender analysis and ethos of gender equality and social justice will be relevant to professional contexts such as non-governmental organisations, industry and community-based organisations, or civil society movements.

HOLOCAUST AND GENOCIDE STUDIES

Available as a minor or electives

Clayton, Caulfield

About holocaust and genocide studies

The 20th century has been called 'the century of genocide', but genocidal violence continues into the new millennium. This area of study asks you to reflect on why genocides happen and how people come to participate in mass violence.

Why study holocaust and genocide studies?

You'll explore the Holocaust as a turning point in human history, along with the causes and effects of modern genocides all over the world and what's being done to prevent them. You'll examine themes such as trauma and testimony, the limits of representation, the survivor experience across generations and cultures, the role of the law in adjudicating war crimes, media coverage of atrocity and the failure to prevent genocide.

Career options

- Humanitarian organisations
- Education
- Law and justice
- Museum and memorial conservation
- Government
- Media and research

HUMAN RIGHTS

Available as a major, minor or electives

Clayton, Caulfield

About human rights

We explore human rights law, practice and activism, which are among the most widely accepted approaches to addressing harms suffered by humans worldwide. We look at issues such as torture, hunger, military aggression, ethnic violence, political corruption and discrimination.

Why study human rights?

You'll examine the nature and legitimacy of human rights' claims and the role of human rights in the broader context of international affairs. You'll investigate critical issues: Is torture ever justified? What are the rights of asylum seekers? Does the world have a responsibility for misplaced peoples? Can human rights violations justify interfering in the domestic affairs of the violating nation?

Career options

- Politics
- Advocacy
- Law
- Non-government organisations (NGOs)
- Journalism
- Government bodies and diplomacy

HUMAN GEOGRAPHY

Available as a major, minor or electives

Clayton

About human geography

Human geography explores the relationship between people and their environment including major challenges such as rapid urbanisation, environmental degradation, climate change, uneven global development, rising socioeconomic inequality and poverty.

Why study human geography?

We explore the causes, consequences and possible solutions to some of the most important issues facing human societies today: environmental degradation, climate change, globalisation, social inequity and poverty, natural disasters and human vulnerability. Human geography will give you insights into how to analyse, deconstruct and think creatively about urban and regional development, environmental policy and management.

Career options

INDONESIAN STUDIES

Available as a major, minor or electives

About Indonesian studies

We've taught Indonesian studies for more than 50 years and we have one of Australia's largest Indonesian library collections. Flexible entry points ensure you'll study at a level that suits your language proficiency, and a focus on literature and linguistics topics will supercharge your development. Our program is complemented and informed by Monash Arts' extensive research in the history, politics, economy and music of Indonesia.

Why choose Indonesian studies?

Indonesia is one of the world's largest and most diverse nations, and one of Australia's nearest and most important neighbours. You'll develop strong cultural literacy and intercultural communication skills, and examine the interaction of language and culture with reference to history, performing arts, journalism, literature and translation.

Overseas study opportunities

There are many opportunities to study language and culture in Indonesia for a semester or a full year. Monash is a member of the Australian Consortium for In-Country Indonesian Study (ACICIS), which has specialist in-country programs in language, journalism, development studies and education.

JOURNALISM

Available as a major, minor or electives

About journalism

You may have heard that the role of a journalist is to uphold the fourth estate. But what does that mean? It means that you're the one who finds the real story before the rest of us realise the story is even there. You're the one who informs us about the problems and achievements of our society; between our community and the world. There's no more important job.

Why study journalism?

Journalism will teach you the skills to write succinctly, to a word limit and to a deadline. It'll teach you to question ideas, and to question people face-to-face. You'll learn to think on your feet and quickly gain an understanding of an issue. It'll also teach you to be accurate, check your sources, dig deeper and analyse data to find the next big story in the field that most interests you. You'll learn to use the very latest technologies in our multi-million dollar Monash Media Lab, one of the most advanced of its kind in Australia.

Career options

Many of our graduates fulfil their aspiration to become a journalist. They've joined metropolitan papers, the ABC and SBS, along with commercial radio, TV and digital-only outlets. Others have gone on to careers in communications, speech writing and other professions where the skills of journalism are in demand.

JEWISH STUDIES

Available as a minor or electives

About Jewish studies

You'll gain an understanding of Jewish civilisation in its many aspects – language, literature, history, theology, philosophy, rabbinic, law, politics and sociology. Jewish studies is taught by the Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation (ACJC), an interdisciplinary centre within Monash Arts whose mission is to research and teach the significance and evolution of Jewish culture and its contributions to the world.

Why choose Jewish studies?

ACJC is known for its global internships and overseas study trips to Israel, Europe and Rwanda. Our units can be studied through other areas of study such as history, religion and international studies, where they focus on three areas: Judaism and interreligious relations; Israel and the Middle East; and the Holocaust and genocide.

Career options

- Law and justice
- Government
- Media
- Research
- Humanitarian organisations
- Education
- Museum
- Memorial conservation

KOREAN STUDIES

Available as a major, minor or electives

About Korean studies

Language teaching at Monash uses interactive and multimedia resources to bring Korean culture and language to life. You'll be introduced to Hangul, the Korean phonetic writing system, which will enable you to type in Korean from beginner's level onwards. Our academics are world leaders in the field of Korean history, literary studies and language education.

Why study Korean?

Korea is one of Australia's largest trading partners, and the close political and strategic relationship between the two countries is constantly developing and expanding in a number of sectors, including trade, education and tourism. Developing a high level of linguistic and intercultural competence will give you a clear advantage when applying for jobs and it will diversify your career options.

Overseas opportunities

All students are strongly encouraged to participate in the overseas exchange programs with Korea, where we have agreements with four prominent universities.

Career options

- Trade
- Commerce
- International relations
- Tourism
- Community service
- Education

LINGUISTICS AND ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Available as a major, minor or electives

About linguistics and English language

Language is central to human life, and linguistics is the scientific study of language and its application. It explores the way we understand, acquire and use language, both spoken and written. And while it considers the diverse characteristics of individual languages, it also uncovers the deeper properties that all languages share. You'll explore multilingualism and multilingual societies, including areas such as language and globalisation, language learning and teaching and language endangerment. You'll also have the option to specialise in English as an international language.

Why study linguistics and English language?

Studying linguistics and English language will enable you to analyse the role of social interaction and the relationship between language, society, identity and culture. You'll be able to communicate more effectively across cultures, and explore the ways in which language enables human thought and feeling to be revealed in sounds or written shapes, and the ways speakers and listeners navigate this process.

Career options

- Audiology
- Information technology
- Creative writing
- Journalism
- Communications
- Foreign affairs
- Law

MUSIC

Available as a major, minor or electives

How can you study music at Monash?

There are different ways to include music in your studies. You can audition to enrol in the Bachelor of Music, or if you're studying another course, such as a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science, you can still include non-practical music units as a major, minor or elective. There's also an opportunity to join a range of small and large ensembles, some of which require an audition.

Studying music in your Arts course

A major or minor in music allows you to develop critical, analytical and interpretive skills to investigate different areas of music, such as western art music, popular and world music.

The major or minor in music within the Bachelor of Arts is available to students who have no previous music experience.

Career options

PHILOSOPHY

Available as a major, minor or electives

About philosophy

Almost everyone has been puzzled by a philosophical question at some point. For example: Is morality objective or simply a matter of opinion? What is personal identity? What is consciousness? Is it rational to believe in God? These are some of the central issues we address in philosophy.

Why study philosophy?

Philosophy students become excellent communicators, forming clear and persuasive arguments, conceiving complex ideas and developing as independent thinkers. Philosophy studies are very popular with Arts/Laws students. You'll be inspired to think outside the square and look at the world in a different way.

Career options

- Non-government organisations (NGOs)

UNDERSTANDING THE TERMINOLOGY

Comprehensive degree

At Monash Arts, this refers to the Bachelor of Arts. A comprehensive degree gives you the choice and flexibility to select your units (subjects), and requires you to complete 24 units in 3 years, including specific requirements such as completing an Arts major and Professional Futures units.

Specialist degree

At Monash Arts, this refers to the Bachelor of Criminology, Bachelor of Criminology and Policing, Bachelor of Global Studies, Bachelor of Media Communication, Bachelor of Music, and Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics. You need to complete 24 units in 3 years and meet the core requirements of the degree, for example, completing one of the nominated specialisations, studying the prescribed minor, studying overseas, or undertaking a professional project.

Units

Sometimes called a subject, units are usually worth six credit points. You need to complete 144 credit points in a three-year degree. Some second-year and third-year units are worth 12 credit points, and are counted as two units – these units have a higher workload.

Areas of study

An 'area of study' is a field of knowledge – for example, literary studies or sociology. Areas of study are sometimes called 'disciplines' See pages 24–33.

Major

A major is eight units from the same area of study. In the Bachelor of Arts you can choose to study one or two majors, and you don't have to decide on your major straight away.

Arts electives/Minor

A minor is four units from the same area of study. In a Bachelor of Arts, you can choose to complete a minor or four individual units from your chosen areas. In most specialist degrees, your minor is prescribed.

Specialisation

An Arts specialisation consists of 10–12 units and is a requirement of any of the specialist degrees.

Elective

There are eight free elective units in all single Arts degrees. These can be taken from Arts, Business, Technology or Science.

Bachelor degree

A Bachelor degree is also referred to as an undergraduate degree and is generally your first degree out of high school.

Master degree

A master degree is also referred to as postgraduate degree and is a higher qualification to a Bachelor degree, usually taken after a Bachelor degree.

If there's one thing to look out for, it's a place with good internships, and genuinely Monash was great at supplying those. I did five internships all up and two of those internships led to a job."
